SCHOOLS

Involve your students in an activity that expands the brain, but doesn't take place in the typical classroom setting.

The scientific journal Nature describes the benefits of learning to juggle.

"Learning to juggle can alter the brain's structure, expanding the amount of gray matter in areas that process and store visual information. A research team compared brain-imaging scans of non jugglers before they learned to juggle and three months later and discovered increases in gray matter in certain areas of their brains.."

With JuggleStuff kids learn to juggle in a fun and safe environment. We provide all the necessary equipment.

Suggested for Grades 3 - 8.
